Developments

March was one of the most difficult months that any of us have endured on many levels, as the Coronavirus developed into a global crisis. Preventive measures, such as social distancing and safer-at-home, changed day-to-day life, and led to a dramatic contraction in economic activity. There was a large impact on the financial markets, as the S&P 500 declined 12.35% for the month. The flight to safety, which began in late February, accelerated with the VIX Index spiking to over 80 at its peak, and then closing the month at 54. Credit spreads blew out to levels not seen in years, and the yield on the 10-Year US Treasury fell to 0.67% at month end. Late in the month, the Federal Reserve took several steps to inject liquidity and stabilize the financial markets.

Amid the turmoil, SSI's Hedged Convertible Opportunity Strategy declined approximately 14.33% (gross of fee) in the month of March. Convertible issuers are generally from growth industries and have strong balance sheets, but weakness in credit carried over to the convertible market, where price declines in many areas, exceeded what would be expected. Although the recent market turmoil has been challenging, attractive opportunities are emerging. Valuations are the most compelling they have been in years, and yields are attractive. As the environment stabilizes, we expect implied credit spreads for convertibles to decline and bolster returns to above trend levels seen in previous dislocated markets.

Compliance Statement

SSI Investment Management LLC ("SSI") claims compliance with the Global Investment Performance Standards (GIPS®).

Definition of the Firm

SSI was established in 1973 and is a Registered Investment Advisor based in Los Angeles, CA. SSI manages assets in domestic and global capital markets. SSI applies quantitative disciplines and fundamental research in its management of alternative and traditional portfolios for institutional and high net-worth investors. SSI manages separate accounts, limited partnerships and acts as sub-advisor to mutual funds. Effective June 1, 2019, Resolute Investment Managers, Inc. will have a majority interest in SSI, however, SSI will continue to operate independently. SSI does not have any subsidiaries. SSI acquired the assets of Frole, Revy Investment Co., Inc. ("Frole, Revy") and its composites as of March 1, 2009.

Policies

SSI's policies for valuing portfolios, calculating performance, and preparing compliant presentations are available upon request.

The Composite & Benchmark

The SSI Hedged Convertible Opportunity Strategy composite was created on April 1, 2001 and invests long in a diversified portfolio of convertible bonds/preferreds and short the underlying common stocks to attempt to achieve an absolute return. We expect to use leverage all or most of the time within this strategy. The composite contains fully discretionary accounts including those no longer with the firm. Interest rebates on short sales and coupon interest on convertible bonds/preferreds comprise a consistent and important component of the return. SSI has historically used the FTSE 3 Month Treasury Bill ("3 Month T-Bill"), formerly called 90 Day T-Bill (name change as of 8/1/2018 when Citigroup's 90 Day T-Bill was acquired by London Stock Exchange Group - LSEG) as the benchmark for its Hedged Convertible Opportunity Strategy (4/1/2001 – 12/31/2016), however, as of 1/1/2017 the benchmark was retroactively changed to the HFRX Convertible Arbitrage Index. HFRX Convertible Arbitrage Index includes strategies based on a realized spread between related instruments in which one or multiple components of the spread is a convertible fixed income instrument. SSI believes a performance comparison versus the HFRX Convertible Arbitrage Index is appropriate as the portfolios in the new benchmark better match the characteristics of SSI's Hedged Convertible Opportunity Strategy than the FTSE 3 Month Treasury Bill. The volatility of this strategy may be materially different although we expect it to be generally lower than the volatility of the HFRX Convertible Arbitrage Index due to SSI's lower leverage and hedging techniques as well as other potential differences. The return, if any, above the HFRX Convertible Arbitrage Index is typically dependent upon SSI's discretionary management. Any other indices shown are not necessarily comparable to SSI's Hedged Convertible Opportunity Strategy. These are widely recognized market indices that are shown for informational purposes only. The composite name was formally known as SSI Hedged Convertible Market Neutral Leveraged Strategy from 4/1/2001 – 6/30/2008 and on 7/1/2008 the new composite name became the SSI Hedged Convertible Opportunity Strategy.

Use of Leverage, Derivatives, and Shorts

Leverage is utilized in the HC Opportunity Strategy. Leverage is defined as gross longs over capital. The strategy has the ability to be levered up to 3Xs but is generally in the 1.5 – 2Xs range and the use of derivatives is not material. The Strategy is generally fully hedged and involves buying a convertible bond/preferred and shorting the underlying common stock in order to reduce the equity exposure.

Investment Management Fees

Returns are presented gross and net of management fee. Actual results of an individual account may be materially different from the performance shown herein because of differences in inception date, transaction and related costs, investment guideline restrictions, fees and other factors. All performance is based in U.S. dollars and reflect, on a percentage basis for each of the periods indicated: (a) the net increase (decrease) of all SSI Hedged Convertible Opportunity Strategy portfolios during the period, dollar-weighted, including adjustments for unrealized gains and losses, the reinvestment of dividends and other earnings, the deduction of investment costs, the deduction of limited partnership and/or mutual fund costs (if any), time-weighted to adjust for additions and withdrawals, and (b) the net increase (decrease) of the HFRX Convertible Arbitrage Index. The SSI Hedged Convertible Opportunity Fund, SPC which is included in the SSI Hedged Convertible Opportunity Strategy Composite from May 2008 to December 2009, incurred administrative costs that are approximately between two and eight basis points higher per month than the costs of other accounts included in the composite. Effective February 2017 foreign investor withholding tax is treated as a cash flow. Prior to February 2017, it was treated as an expense.

Net performance is reduced by SSI's investment management fees which includes performance fees. Gross performance does not include deduction of SSI's investment management or performance fees.

If performance is gross of management fees, client's actual return will be reduced by the management fees and any other expenses which may be incurred in the management of an investment advisory account. See SSI's Form ADV, Part 2A for a complete description of the investment advisory fees customarily charged by SSI. As an example, an account with an initial $1,000,000 investment on January 1, 2003, earning a recurring 5% semi-annual gross return (10.25% annualized), and paying a .5% semi-annual management fee (1% annual fee) would have grown to $1,340,096 on a gross of fees basis and $1,300,392 on a net of fees basis by December 31, 2005 (3 years).

Policies

SSI's policies for valuing portfolios, calculating performance, and preparing compliant presentations are available upon request.

The Composite & Benchmark

The SSI Convertible Income Strategy (composite created January 1, 1995) invests long in a diversified portfolio of convertible bonds/preferreds and short the underlying common stocks to attempt to achieve an absolute return. The composite contains fully discretionary accounts including those no longer with the firm. With interest rebates on short sales and coupon interest on convertible bonds comprising a consistent and important component of the return of the SSI Convertible Income Strategy, SSI believes a performance comparison versus the FTSE 3 Month Treasury Bill ("3 Month T-Bill") is appropriate. The volatility of this strategy is expected to be greater than the volatility of the 3 Month T-Bill due to the inclusion of convertible and equity positions. The return, if any, above the 3 Month T-Bill is dependent upon higher interest income available in the convertible market and SSI's discretionary management. Any other indices shown are not necessarily comparable to SSI's Convertible Income Strategy. These are widely recognized market indices that are shown for informational purposes only. The composite name was formally known as SSI Hedged Convertible Income Strategy from 1/1/1995 – 6/30/2008 and on 7/1/2008 the new composite name became the SSI Convertible Income Strategy. Citigroup's 90 Day T-Bill was acquired by London Stock Exchange Group (LSEG) and beginning 8/1/2018 the new name is FTSE 3 Month Treasury Bill ("3 Month T-Bill").

Use of Leverage, Derivatives, and Shorts

Leverage is not used in SSI's Convertible Income Strategy and the use of derivatives is not material. The Strategy is generally fully hedged and involves buying a convertible bond/preferred and shorting the underlying common stock in order to reduce the equity exposure.

Investment Management Fees

Returns are presented gross and net of management fee. Actual results of an individual account may be materially different from the performance shown herein because of differences in inception date, transaction and related costs, investment guideline restrictions, fees and other factors. Net performance is reduced by SSI's actual investment management fees and model fees (1995-2019). 1% annual fee is used for any model fees. Gross performance does not include deduction of SSI's investment management fees.

If performance is gross of management fees, client's actual return will be reduced by the management fees and any other expenses which may be incurred in the management of an investment advisory account. See SSI's Form ADV, Part 2A for a complete description of the investment advisory fees customarily charged by SSI.
